

NEWSLETTER – FALL 2018

Welcome to the combined Newsletter for Wolfian Press [Publications], Purple Unicorn Media, and AHF (Alternate History Fiction – website and magazine).

NEW – AHF MAGAZINE Issue 5

Writing Features

AHF Magazine issue 5 includes Writing Features by L G Parker on "The Story Behind The Story "One Stray Bullet", Chris Oswald on writing "18 Acres of England", Dave Thompson on "Rewriting History - Casanova In Paris", and Euel Elliott on the themes in "Paths Not Taken".

Stories

Issue 5 of AHF Magazine has a lead story by Tyler Bugg "From San Francisco to New York in Two Weeks", and fiction by Alvaro Rossi, Andrew J Hogan, Mark O'Connor, Nathan W. Toronto, Geoff Nelder (pictured above), Andrew Martin, John F. Keane, Andy Redsmith, Kirian Valk, and Matylda Zamudio.

Previews & Reviews

AHF Magazine reviews '18 Acres of England' by Chris Oswald: How does a country fight for its independence when its leaders have second thoughts? or are they thinking again? When the events are clouded in a quarter millennium of swiftly passing history, how can you tell? [\[ISBN 978-1999786861\]](#)

Poetry & Art

AHF Magazine 5 includes poetry by John Grey, John Maurer (pictured), Rose McConahy, and Matylda Zamudio. The cover photograph is by Michel Hersen and is of The White House in the Canyon de Chelly in Arizona, a site on native land. The logo and header is by Violet Dragonlady.

Issue 5 of AHF Magazine is the Autumn/Fall release for 2018 and is a bumper issue, full of stories, writing features, and poetry.

Loved it, especially the genre gradations from hard AH to time travel/personal dislocation to solid history (best short summary of Shiloh that I've ever read) to fiction to poetry. My absolute favorite vignette has to be "From San Francisco to New York in Two Week"

FORTHCOMING TITLES FOR THE CHRISTMAS 2018 MARKET

BROTH AGAIN FOR DINNER

By Florence Coombe

With Jill Coombe

The captivating story of a young girl growing up in the Welsh village of Whitland in the 1920s and 1930s.

This is the story of a young girl, Florence, from Whitland, Carmarthenshire who battled poverty and hardship in the aftermath of the First World War.

Florence's stamina and humour saw her through and her words, which vividly describe life in Wales in the 1920's and 1930's, have now tumbled into life, leaving the reader moved and at times warmed by the picture which she has so effortlessly painted.

A significant contribution to the social historical narrative of South Wales, Broth Again for Dinner brings the reader face to face with the raw ingredients of humanity and with that most noble quality of all – courage.

RELEASED DECEMBER 2018

PATHS NOT TAKEN

By Fuel Elliott et al

PRINT EDITION – RELEASED DECEMBER 2018

Just as with our personal lives, history is replete with the question "What if?" Exploring the broad sweep of American history and politics, Paths Not Taken, written for a broad, general audience, explores this very question, and does so in a way that will keep the reader entertained, and at the end of the day, come away with a greater appreciation for how we got to where we are today as a nation.

Exploring alternative paths that the U.S.A. could have taken in the past 300 years at each important crossroad in her existence!

AHF MAGAZINE issue 6

In pre-production AHF Magazine issue 6 is still taking submissions in the genres of Alternate History, Historical Fiction, Steampunk, and some areas of Science Fiction and Urban Fantasy. Poetry in any genre also welcome, and art on similar themes.

Already confirmed for issue 6 are stories by John D Hanna, Jeff Rouss, and Jeffrey G Roberts, poetry by Fabrice Poussin, Chani Zwibel, and Philip Piarrot, a writing feature on Alternate History by L G Parker, and an interview with novelist Ruth Danes.

Much more to come!

THE WOLFIAN PRESS REVIEW 2019

Invite-only, this third annual review publication will be released at the end of January 2019. Authors, poets, artists, and writers of non-fiction will be contacted by the Editor with invitations to submit.

RESTRUCTURING

From December 2018 an ongoing process of restructuring the publishing business will be taking place. No further releases will be made under the Wolfian Press label, except for the magazines, and all future publications will be under one of the three labels below, all of which are registered publishers or registered imprints, and which send books to the six National Libraries of the British Isles.

PURPLE UNICORN MEDIA

All future release of Poetry, Travel, and Art will be under this label.

Some of the existing Wolfian Press releases in these fields will be reissued as PUM books.

WOLFIAN PRESS PUBLICATIONS

Wolfian Press Publications will be the label for all future releases of History, Biography, Alternate History, Science Fiction, and Memoirs

The existing Wolfian Press back-catalogue in these genres will either be reissued as WPP books, or demised in the coming months.

SCIMITAR EDGE

Scimitar Edge is the new imprint for Politics, Political Philosophy, Social Activism, and similar projects.
